Brazos County Youth Livestock Show to begin soon.

We are soon to see our 4-H, FFA and FCCLA students enter and compete in many contests in the Brazos County Youth Livestock Show. This fair is organized and run by volunteers that make up the BCYLS which supports our youth in training and teaching them many life skills such as responsibility, reliability, accountability, professionalism through showmanship, honor and integrity. They learn these skills through creating and making Family and Consumer Science projects, arts and crafts, ag mechanics projects and raising animals for breeding and market classes.

We promote these projects because they offer opportunities during their school career, and scholarships upon graduation. The youth also learn leadership skills through record keeping and interviews. The youth gain valuable experiences that help them to overcome adversity and give them a greater chance to become successful members of society as they continue to grow.

It takes an entire community across this great county to support the fair and the youth involved. Many businesses sponsor the fair as well as participate in the Premium sale. This sale brings funds back to the youth through the auction and helps the kids to continue the next year in their quest for improvement and success.

The fair is fun for all who participate, whether you are involved in a contest, or are a buyer, or just a supportive patron coming to enjoy the show. We hope everyone will come out to support our youth.

A summary of the fair's events can be found on the association's website, please visit

<https://bcyla.net/schedule/>.

We hope to see you out there and look forward to showcasing the youth's hard work through their projects.
